

Alexandria Gazette 17 Apr 1875

Prince William County Items from the Manassas Gazette

Arthur Damewood, a little ten year old son of Wm. Damewood, living near Groveton, in the upper part of Prince William, was instantly killed on Saturday last by the explosion of an old shell which he was rolling about the yard.

The "Smith" Brown Stone Quarries, about two miles from this place, have been put in operation lately by Mr. M. A. McGowan & Co. of Washington. A force of twenty hands are employed under the superintendence of Mr. J. R. Tillett.

Rody Loveless, a well known fish trapper, has taken a large number of fine black bass from Broad Run this spring.